

For the fifth year in a row, the Forum for Religious Issues of the Institute of Social Sciences and the Centre for Sociological and Anthropological Research at the Institute of Social Sciences along with partner associations are organizing an international religious scientific conference on 5 - 6th April 2019, at Srebrno jezero. Given that the organization of the conference profiled itself as one of the few annual interdisciplinary conferences on the issues of religion and church, over the past years it has gathered a group of permanent participants, with new authors joining every year depending on the topic of the conference. In the years when it was, due to, unfortunately, financial reasons, difficult to independently organize an international conference that gathers a minimum of ten foreign participants, and a later printing of a collection of papers from a conference or a thematic monograph, a joint organization of the conference with partner organizations, such as the Yugoslav Association for the Scientific Study of Religion from Niš, and the Committee on Education and Culture of the Eparchy of Braničevo Diocese from Požarevac, helped us in achieving these tasks

Processes, Trends, Domains and Limitations of Religious Changes in the Contemporary World

(De)secularization, Post-secularization, Revitalization of Religion – Theoretical Assumptions and Empirical Evidence